

ADDENDA

In 1984 the Department of Natural Resources contracted with Joe Getty to conduct a follow-up survey of selected historic properties on DNR lands. DNR funded the field survey and photography but did not prepare finished copy. The attached photocopy pages were forwarded to the Maryland Historical Trust to supplement existing files. All original material and photographs remain in the possession of the Department of Natural Resources under the supervision of Ross Kimmel (x3771).

Subject: Lynn Cabin, Rocky Gap State Park

According to Harold Riley, Park Manager of Rocky Gap State Park, the Lynn Cabin has not been standing since 1980. I visited the area as indicated by the U.S.G.S. map in the 1979 survey form and I was unable to locate the site of the structure.

This structure is a 20th century framehunters' cabin, resting on concrete block foundations. It is a one story, three bay structure, sheathed with random boards over which asbestos shingle siding has been applied on three sides. The building has a central block chimney and an asphalt roof. It is in deteriorated condition and is slated for demolition by DNR. Other structures which were once part of the complex have already been removed. These included a privy and two frame sheds.
